

The Miraculous Theatre Company
presents

*It's not the gardener
who chooses the plant
but the plant who chooses the gardener.*

Romantic
Botanic is a series of bespoke guided tours delving
into the secret
love life of plants.

Whilst humans have been developing the art of seduction for thousands of years, plants have been doing this for MILLIONS.

We mix poetry and science, factual and fictional folklore, to create an engaging, profound and hilarious look into the plant realm and its relationship with us.

We each have our own
historical and cultural story to discover and to share.

Romantic Botanic is unique by nature.

Each encounter is tailored to your requirements, to tell a story, and to share your message.

It can be designed for any environment – in urban as well as rural settings – and is not limited by season or geography.

The direct and informal nature of outdoor performance has an immediate effect on people's lives.

Our work helps to enable people to connect imaginatively with each other, their community and with their environment.

Our distinct offer combines our love of nature with our experience of creating quality outdoor theatre.

The cast of Romantic Botanic is Barney, Roger and Paschale. We thrive on cultivating memorable performances that celebrate the rich characteristics of each setting.

We attribute our best work when we work in full collaboration with the artistic producers, establishing rapport and setting out mutually understood goals, which has proven successful consistently across a range of industry and cultural differences.

“The Romantic Botanic experience was superb; an original, witty and very amusing show which engaged the audience and, importantly, got them thinking about the environment around them.”

As managers of a site with such ecological and archaeological importance, it really made us think and realise that we should be considering other alternative ways of promoting some of our key messages to a wider audience.”
